

SASHA COHEN (Fiona) has turned her Olympic Silver medal into a golden journey that includes acting, TV guest star, and celebrity spokesperson making make her one of the most marketable and desirable celebrity athletes in the world.

The 2005-2006 competitive figure skating season was a standout year for the 21-year-old. Sasha won the Olympic Silver medal, her first U.S. National Championship and captured the Bronze medal at the World Championships. She also toured with Smucker's Stars On Ice and performed with Christina Aguilera at the tree lighting ceremony at Rockefeller Center.

Making the much publicized decision to take this year off from competitive skating to focus on her acting career, Sasha is very excited to be making her feature film debut in "Moondance Alexander." She has also appeared in the box office smash "Blades of Glory", the NBC's "Vegas", and "CSI: NY." She was also guest correspondent for "Inside Edition" during their Oscar broadcast, joined an elite group of celebrities and athletes in her own "Got Milk?" ad and was voted one of the 50 most beautiful people in the world by People Magazine.

Recognizing that young people are influenced by what they see in public, Sasha thrives on being a role model. Her autobiography "Fire On Ice", published by HarperCollins, is a testament to Sasha's disciplined lifestyle and unconditional family support. She is also very active in promoting her charities that impact youth and families.
